CHURCH OF CHRIST YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Last Sunday evening the Christian Endeavour of the Church of Christ postponed their regular service to hold the annual business meeting, the main feature being the election of officers for the coming season.

Ruth Wismer, former president of this group, declined to accept that position again this year and Ruth Hansell was elected to fill the vacancy, automatically becoming chairman of the programme committee. Leslie R. Warden was nominated and elected to the vice-presidency left vacant by the election of Ruth Hansell to president. Ruth Wismer during the coming year will serve as secretary-treasurer, succeeding Viola Loxton.

Other officers for the coming year are Lloyd Clark, correspondent to the Alberta Christian; Robert Warden to preside over the Missionary committee and Mary Spaeth to hear the social committee. Each of the latter is to be supported by a capable committee, to be chosen by the respective leaders.

A good year is anticipated by all the young people, with the support of the new pastor and his wife, and all young persons in the Vulcan district are invited to attend the lively sing-songs, parties and meetings.

WAR NOTES

Seeking Complete Control of Vast Island. Successful Raids on Tobruk. Nazis Tighten Siege Round Gallant Stalingrad

Major war events of this week include more complete seizure of island of Madagascar; repeated air raids on Tobruk; air bombardment of German cities by British and Russians; stiff resistance of Russia to tightening siege on Stalingrad; Jap movement toward Port Moresby; heavy losses to Jap air bases; Jap fire bombs drop in bush on Oregon coast; Nazi sub attacks off Canada, cost Canadian patrol vessel.

Belief that the Axis forces were making use of Madagascar for bases, thus threatening the route to the Indian ocean, has brought the British into action to complete control of the island. The previous hold on this vast island had been confined to a small section and little progress was being made in winning over island co-operation, so long as German controlled instructions coming from Vichy. The new British invasion of the island will further secure Allied Nations control of shipping routes in adjacent waters. Little serious opposition is encountered in the march to the island capital, and several ports have been captured. It is an all-Empire undertaking without participation of the fighting French.

Raiding Tobruk

In repeated raids on Tobruk, British naval forces and R.A.F. have inflicted heavy casualties. El Daba has also been a centre of attack from the sea. Italian claims are that the attempt of British parachute troops to make a landing, but were driven off in any event the important supply base of Tobruk was badly damaged before any withdrawal.

German Cities Bombarded

Air invasion of Germany is being carried on, with blows delivered from east and west. Twin blows one thousand miles apart are having demoralizing effect. Hundreds of planes swept over the Axis borders raining bombs on Bremen, Dusseldorf, Bucharest and the Ploesti oilfields of Rumania. 750 bombers of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. swept across Dusseldorf spreading destruction. Thirty planes failed to return from the attack.

Fram bases in Russia came bombers to attack Bucharest and Rumanian oilfields. Budapest and other points of eastern Hungary have been victims of Soviet attack. Berlin also was the centre of Soviet attention.

Air attacks on important cities of Germany are steadily strengthening.

Fiercest Battle of War

The fiercest battle of the war is that which has raged for almost a month round Stalingrad. The tide of battle ebbs and flows, as Russians retreat before immense hordes of fresh Nazi troops, and then summon renewal resistance. Terrific losses are sustained on both sides, but still new Nazi troops come on. Hitler has demanded the strategic city at any price and has prepared to pay any price. The struggle surpasses that of Moscow a year ago, when 1,000,000 men on each side participated. Conflicting reports come from the besieged city, but winter is approaching and may take a hand in the struggle before it is too late.

It is believed that Hitler values Stalingrad, not for the value of its battered state, but because it would be invaluable as a pivot for a defensive winter line. Weatherproof shelters in the Don Volga area must be assured if the 1942 gains of the Germans are not to be jeopardized during the winter. There is at present no prospect of good shelter for the invaders, and none of the Nazi gains of 1942 have been consolidated.

Pacific Activity

Threats of Japanese troops against Port Moresby in New Guinea have been held off in fierce hand to hand bayonet fighting. Australian troops have halted the encroachment but the situation is reported from Australia as serious.

In the meantime successful raids are being made on Jap bases, supply ships are being raided and in the Solomon Island battle the Americans shot down 96 Jap planes with a loss of 8 pilots. Altogether the enemy has lost more than 150 planes since early August in the region of the Solomons.

Word comes from the Pacific coast of a Jap seaplane attempting to set Oregon forests afire. Forest fires were started by what are believed to be Jap incendiary bombs, but were discovered by patrols. This is the first air attack on the coast. Previous attacks by submarine were made on Southern California in February and on Vancouver Island in June. The plane was believed to have operated from a submarine which was later bombed.

Fighting enemy submarines in defense of a merchant convoy, the Canadian patrol vessel Raccoon was lost, with 38 men believed to have gone down. Four merchant ships were lost.

"R. D." AND MAURICE

Everyone looks forward to R. D. Colquhoun's genial voice as he dispenses "Neighborhood News" over CBC on Sunday mornings at 8.45. Equally well-known are his exchanges with "Maurice" who also has comments on the news in the same period. These familiar voices have been heard for the past two years by all western homes.

REGULAR MEETING TOWN OF VULCAN

The regular meeting of the town council was held on Monday night with a full attendance.

W. L. Irvine attended the meeting relative to information of an Air Cadet Unit. He explained that that there are not enough boys of the required age for this unless the Military Cadet Unit is disbanded and circumstances do not warrant this.

It was decided that when half of the 1942 taxes on the Church of Christ manse are paid, the other half will be cancelled.

A. G. Spaeth interviewed the council to ask if it would allow two small buildings together worth about $2000 to be placed on Lot 4 Block 24. The council suggested a duplex building of the value of $2000 instead of two small ones. It also suggested that the two small buildings might be placed in a less restricted area.

Adjutant Fitch and Envoy Frayn of the Salvation Army were present and asked the support of the town in their forthcoming campaign for funds. Mr. John Mitchell was also in attendance and agreed to act as chairman of the local committee.

It was decided to remove the salvage enclosure situated near the Odd-fellows hall.

Funeral Services For Henry Olsen

Henry Olsen, a respected resident of Brant and High River districts for the past 37 years passed away in the High River hospital on Sept. 12, following a short illness.

He was 72 years of age and had been born at Hyde Park, Utah. When he was 7 years of age he moved to Arizona with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Olsen. This was during pioneer settlements in Arizona and he had many stirring recollections of the pioneer experiences of that period. In 1905 he moved to Canada, home-coming in the Brant district. It was in 1918 that he moved to High River to make his home with his mother who predeceased him in 1939. Until ten years ago, Mr. Olsen was a popular "fiddler" at all country dances, and had a real talent for music.

He is survived by two brothers, Ira of Brant, and A. J. who resides in California. A large family connection resides in Brant and High River.

Funeral services were held in High River on Monday, Sept. 14, with Elder Leon Jenkins of the Latter Day Saints officiating, assisted by Elder Robert Hanna. The funeral arrangements were in charge of the Snodgrass Funeral Home with interment in the Highwood cemetery. Pallbearers were his three nephews, Darce Olsen, Edward Olsen and Floyd Olsen; B. Kemery, G. Jensen and James Farrell.

SALVATION ARMY OPENS HOME FRONT APPEAL NEXT MONDAY

Monday, September 21, marks the beginning of the Home Front Appeal of the Salvation Army. Funds from this appeal are to be used for the carrying on of normal activities in Canada such as hospital facilities, old people's homes, homes for unmarried mothers, etc. The Dominion Government this year decided that the Auxiliary War Services in military camps and defense areas, including overseas, of all the organizations should be financed from the federal treasury. It was also decided that the Home Service of the Salvation Army, Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. must be raised by local campaigns this fall.

The Salvation Army campaign is being launched as a number of local appeals instead of on a national scale. A local committee to carry out this Home Front Appeal in Vulcan and district was organized early this week by Adjutant Fitch and Envoy Frayn of the Salvation Army, with John Mitchell acting as chairman of the local committee. An objective of $400 has been set as the amount to be raised in Vulcan and district. This is a very

Sept. 30 Cut-off Day For Home Canning

This Ruling May Suit the East But Unfair to the West

The Wartime Prices Board announces that there will be no more sugar vouchers for home canning after September 30. This means that all intending to preserve fruit must have orders for required sugar in by the end of this month.

It is permissible to purchase a month's ration ahead, instead of the two weeks' supply first announced for the coupon book. The first two coupons must carry the individual to Oct. 5 representing a full month's supply of two pounds at one time.

Any unused coupons from temporary ration cards will continue to be good.

Sugar for apples may be had at the rate of one pound of sugar to eight of apples.

Only children who were 12 years old by June 25th last, can get the tea and coffee ration.

No ration book is valid after the death of the holder.

If a ration book is destroyed or unfit for use, one must make statutory declaration before receiving a new book. When this is issued it will not bear a serial number.

Members of armed forces on leave and visitors to Canada may be issued temporary ration cards. get their tea and coffee supplies by drawing against a quota based on the number of meals served during the previous quarter. Under the old order After Oct. 1 all public caterers will the quota was 70% of last year's consumption.

THANK YOU, MR. STRANGE

Mr. J. L. Findlay, Editor, Vulcan Advocate.

My dear Sir:

Hearty congratulations on the thirtieth anniversary edition of the "Vulcan Advocate." This is a first class issue and reading it, looking at the picture of eight wagons of wheat drawn by thirty horses and containing 1140 bushels, brings to mind in a flash the great changes that have taken place in wheat handling in a few short years; which also brings to mind the thought—is it any wonder that there have been many misunderstandings both in Western Canada, in Eastern Canada and abroad, about the great Canadian wheat industry when such amazing changes have taken place in such a short time? It would seem almost correct to say that many of our troubles have been rooted in what we might term the "growing pains" of a vast industry. What an amazing contribution of the feeding of the people of the great cities of the world has been made by the Vulcan district alone! It is astonishing when one considers it.

With best wishes, and may the "Vulcan Advocate" and the present proprietor and editor publish many and many such editions.

Yours sincerely,

H. G. L. STRANGE,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Co., Winnipeg.

TAKE A LOOK WESTWARD

FOR forty years people have been debating the advantage of a de-centralized federal government. The argument has been advanced that certain departments of government could serve all Canada better if they were taken out of Ottawa and centred elsewhere. The concentration of federal law makers in the one city of Ottawa tends to restrict vision, hamper understanding, and create of government a world apart from the common man, except as he takes the impact of laws framed in that far off city.

We pay a penalty for our geographic size, and there must be unimaginable difficulties in enforcing any uniform coast-to-coast law which bears equitably on all sections of the country and all elements of our diverse society. But there is a strong conviction that most regulations are scaled from conditions in Ontario and Quebec, with the Maritimes and the great section of Canada west of the great lakes adjusting themselves as best they may.

The most vexatious question of the moment in the west, is the income tax deduction on wages of the farm employee. The west has a seasonal call for labor to a degree incomparably greater than Ontario. There the monthly, or all-year-round employee is the rule, and it is not difficult to compute any wage deductions which may be required. But the harvest situation on the prairies is entirely different. Here men work by the day. They come and go. Their wages are based on good harvest days. To institute and keep track of deductions of this type of labor is a most complicated job. In the opinion of many it is a time waste because it is very debatable if the total year's earnings of the average harvest hand exceeds the exempt income. It is doubtful if the net result of all this bookkeeping is worth the trouble. But it hits the farmer at his busiest time, and creates cleavage between employer and employee. The income tax regulation on farm help did not have the irregularity of prairie harvest labor primarily in mind.

Early gas and motor vehicle regulations did not have the long distances in the west and the sparse settlement in mind. What would be ample leeway for the east, worked a real hardship on certain elements of the west. Here many a man has to drive 60 miles to his nearest market. He has no alternative. A radius of 15 miles for taxi service in the east is reasonable, but it is restrictive, far beyond intention in the west. Any gas rationing purely for business, would call for a prairie allowance double that which is allowed in thickly populated Ontario if it were to be worked out equitably.

The cut-off date on sugar for preserving is set at Sept. 30. If western housewives were consulted they would set Oct. 30 as canning fruit is still coming in in October, and by taking advantage of the later date the housewife is able to spread her preserving expense and budget more satisfactorily.

These are only a few of the regulations which seem to be based on the situation in eastern Canada rather than the west. If a section of the federal government were centred in the west, we might get an occasional break.

STOCKMEN'S EXAMPLE

WESTERN cattlemen have set an admirable example in their appreciation of war necessities and the food requirements of their fellow Canadians. In order to make available a steady supply of beef to the domestic market they have recommended that the federal food administration take complete control of cattle export. This means that they are prepared to accept a lower price for their product in order that the consumer may be assured of steady supplies at a reasonable figure.

This regulation is now law, but prior to enactment, the plan was proposed and endorsed by a local group of cattlemen and by similar other gatherings through Alberta. On their own initiative they were ready to accept less than they might have demanded, in order that society as a whole might benefit. In return they asked that full benefit be passed on to the consumer; that the prices be regulated according to costs, and that they be given a reasonable guarantee against sudden price collapse.

The action is all the more worthy, because no industry in Canada suffered more bitterly under depression than the cattle industry. But the natural temptation to recoup past losses by taking full advantage of present demand had no part in their considerations.

This fine spirit might well be widely publicized as an example to all elements of Canadian industry. First consideration has been given to the needs of a nation at war, and bending every effort to meet food needs at home and abroad. Individual advantage was secondary. Doubtless many other industries are practising the same principle, but not all. There are industrial heads and labor elements whose first thought is to capitalize on the war demand for their product or their labor. The crucial national needs come second in their thoughts.

PRACTISING CHRISTIANITY

BACK in 1912, R. J. C. Stead, writing on proposed church union, said: "Just now the Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists are wondering if they will lose caste by joining with the others. The questions of doctrine are unimportant. After all you can't tell from a man's conduct what he professes, but you certainly can tell what he believes. Professing Christianity is quite a different thing from practising Christianity."

Mr. Stead's words are everlastingly true. The measure of Christ's influence on the life of a man, can only be judged by his daily conduct. His code of life in his home, his business and neighborhood relationships are the only testimony of his faith. His professions fail to influence others unless supported by his life.

And no one denominational belief has any monopoly on Christians. Good men may be found in and out of the church, in every sect, striving earnestly to pattern their lives on that of the Great Teacher. Any religious faith which makes a man kinder and happier in his personal life; more considerate of his fellowman; more appreciative of an all-embracing brotherhood is a good faith. A Christian is known by his works, not by his much speaking.

Pertinent Topics

Discussed by H. C.

It does not seem like three years since the war started and it may well be that it will last many years longer with time slipping by just as it did in other days. There is no reason to assume that wars cannot last long in these machine days. We had a seven years war, a thirty years war, a one-hundred years war, and what has happened before may happen again. The other war couldn't possibly last more than four months, so economists and financiers told us, yet it lasted four years although it was prosecuted far more vigorously than this one which we may yet come to regard as if it always was and ever shall be.

Looking back over the first three years, the most significant thing we observe is that although Germany won all its battles, it has not yet won its war. Another significant thing is that although Britain lost all her allies of 1939 and 1940, she is still in the ring battling bravely, and for one year alone, on many widespread fronts. By compulsion Germany won allies that are a liability as well as an asset to the axis and drove other countries like Russia, the United States and Brazil over to the Allies. These are net assets for Britain, and they are net.

It would be folly to count upon an early crack-up of the Axis, but the curious thing about this war is that all the victories gained by Germany failed to arouse enthusiasm among the Germans. No longer do they hail Hitler when they meet and part or, if they do, it is only perfunctory. The only thing that holds his docility under discipline and the certainty that if they lose, their last estate will be not unlike that which they imposed on Poland, Greece, Yugoslavia, the low countries and France, where millions of people are treasuring up their wrongs against a day of reckoning.

British people including Lloyd George talked of hanging the Kaiser after the other war but he died a natural death after this one had commenced. There was some ground for leniency then. You cannot indict a whole nation and Germany then was an Empire with all the trimmings of a democracy. It is different now. The men who started this war had gained their power by violence and had used the Reichstag as Bergen uses McCarthy. The United Nations cannot recognize any government of Germany until after it has wreaked vengeance on the gangsters. Hitler for instance can be tried for the murders of June 1934. He has already confessed that for that day he constituted himself Germany's Supreme Court.

Mr. Churchill has identified himself and the government and Commons with the solemn words of President Roosevelt that those guilty of Nazi crimes will have to stand before tribunals in every land where their atrocities have been committed in order that an indelible warning may be given to future ages and that successive generations may say, "So perish all who do the like again." Neighboring nations that have felt the lash of the oppressor will know how to attend to the criminals who operated under Hitler. No doubt there are Greeks and Albanians and Yugoslavs who know that Italians need attention and we suspect that the long-suffering Chinese will be ingenious enough to devise ways and means of getting even with Hirohito and his military mad advisors. There are, of course, wise guys here and elsewhere who will oppose such measures and advise the more humane treatment that failed of its purpose in 1919.

An eastern presbytery has passed a resolution condemning the government for permitting troop movements by train on Sundays. The Axis example is not a good one to follow, but it must be done on occasion. Sunday is a day favored by the Axis for launching their enterprises. Hitler did it often; Mussolini raided Albania at Easter and Hirohito selected Sunday for his Pearl Harbor infamy. If they would only respect the Lord's day, we could do the same but when they fight seven days a week we must do the same.

This is an extract from a letter recently received from a Canadian soldier in England: "The other day, I was in a pub when an air-raid siren sounded. No one paid any attention except an old codger who said hopefully to the barmaid: 'Better go to shelter, miss; I'll attend that bar for 'ee.'"

The set-back sustained by Rommel in Egypt may have been due to a lack of press liaison officers.

Various reasons are given for the shake-up in the Spanish government. Some think the attitude of Brazil had much to do with it but what had most to do with it was the incompatibility between Generalissimo Franco and his brother-in-law whom he made Foreign Secretary. The latter was an out-and-out Axis man; the former was an islander whose professions of neutrality "wid a slight turn toward Biddy" (as the Irishman said in asking that he be buried between his two wives) sounded insincere to Axis as well as Allies.

Mr. Churchill told the Commons that quite naturally the Russians were not quite satisfied with what Britain and the U.S. are doing to relieve the pressure on them, but he found Stalin a wise, courageous leader. He also found that he has a sense of humor. Perhaps Stalin showed it when, or rather if, Churchill asked "What did you do, Jo, to relieve the pressure on Poland, or, later, to relieve the pressure on us?"

NEPTUNE'S MORGUE

Water covers two-thirds of the earth's surface. In parts it is green, cold, treacherous, and uninviting. In others placid, blue, limpid, and languorous. Its mesmeric influence upon man is eternal. In its depths, the fishy denizens wage perpetual battle for existence, while Neptune rides the waves, collecting treasure from flotsam and jetsam; the results of God's wrath on man's folly. It is in this domain that the devil has spawned his genius for evil. Here it is that he befools that portion of the earth least of all befuddled by man, with a lurking death. Sailors, whom from time immemorial have respected God's wrath in the storm, fail to acknowledge the existence of such treachery as their enemies have hidden in the depths. Voyagers come and voyagers go; and with them go the blessings and wishes of our fighting sons and the folks at home.

Gone are the days of galleon with all their romance and glamour. But the pirate remains. A modern pirate who has charted his course for your destruction. Neptune is keeping the tally. Four hundred ships, good and true, since Pearl Harbour; while in fathoms deep, lie the bodies of men and the skeletons of ships of those who have wrestled with this monstrous devil—for you!

When you order your coffee, tea, sugar, spices, gasoline and one hundred other luxuries, think of Neptune's morgue. Those cold, green depths that hide iniquity. Then perhaps you will work a little harder, save a little more, fight this tide of evil, and perhaps . . . pray a little more.—From The Story Teller.

No More Ice Cream After Sept. 30?

An article in a recent issue of "The Grocer," states that after the end of this month, one of Canada's favorite foods, will be relegated to the dim and happy past.

The Ministry of Food announces that the manufacture of ice cream will be prohibited after Wednesday, September 30. In deciding on this step, runs the article, the Ministry has had regard to raw materials used in the manufacture of ice cream, the possibilities of even distribution; and to the demands it makes on manpower, factory space and transport. Among the raw materials required are eggs and sugar; and it is desirable that these materials should be used in foods which can be equitably distributed. Equitable distribution of ice cream is impracticable. The production of ice cream makes considerable calls on man-power, plant and factory space.

The refrigerated space set free in factories and depots will be available for storing more essential foods; and there will be a saving of over 1,000 tons per annum of the paper and board used for tubs and wrappings.

Seven Million For What?

During 1941 owners of motor vehicles in Alberta contributed $7,113,956 in the form of licenses and taxes to the Provincial Government.

These taxes were originally applied to obtain money for good roads, but a large percentage of same is being diverted to other purposes.

The Alberta Motor Association advocates that surplus revenue collected from motorists during the war should be placed in a trust fund (War Loan Bonds) to be used for road building and maintenance when peace comes.

Every owner of a motor vehicle should support this policy.

Lac. and Mrs. C. Fulton visited old friends in Brant for a few days last week. Charlie who is with the R.C.A. F. at Clinton, Ontario, is home on two weeks harvest leave but due to rain has accomplished very little in this respect.

Mrs. F. L. Fletcher has as her guests, her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Cranston and her granddaughter Lynn.

Mrs. D. V. Shultz had as her guests over the week-end, her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Murphy of Pincher Creek. Another brother, Jim Murphy who has been employed at Goldfields, Sask., is also visiting her.

Mrs. Gladys Kelllogg and daughter of Lincoln, Mont., arrived last week to visit with her sister Mrs. H. Green.

Miss Florence Beingsner of Macleod visited with her parents this week.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. Ira Olsen on the death of his brother Mr. Henry Olsen in the High River hospital on Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Maisey of Herenton were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Doug. Pakenham.

Best Methods of Pig Management

(By H. G. L. Strange)

Recently I was able to visit a number of prairie farmers. I found that many wheat growers, at the earnest request of the government, have taken up pig production for the first time. Many different methods of pig management were to be seen but some of it unquestionably was bad. On some farms pigs were born hairless, a good percentage of the litters had died and the remaining pigs were not doing at all well.

It is obvious that many wheat growers are not aware of the latest up-to-date labour-saving methods of pig feeding and management. Those who are handling pigs for the first time should, therefore, I suggest, make special efforts to find out from their nearest Experimental Farm or University or Provincial Department of Agriculture, or from their District Agricultural Representative, the methods of feeding and management that would best suit the nature of their individual farms and the feed they actually have on hand.

I am sure that many young pigs now being lost can be saved, that the quantity of grain now fed can be cut down, and that much labour now expended in hauling food and water by hand can be avoided. Sows and litters require sunshine and exercise; growing pigs need sunshine and suitable feed, and above all lots of good clean water.

Salvation Army In Worthy Appeal

To Keep Up Vital Labors of Mercy on the Home Front, Working For Humanity Regardless of Creed

The Salvation Army is launching a drive for funds to carry on their work on the Home Front. Probably no one agency is doing more to seek out the unfortunate and reclaim them than the Salvation Army. Under the tension of war, the unceasing work on the Home Front is more than ever necessary to maintain morale and preserve our citizenship.

In wartime there is greater need than ever to aid and rehabilitate unfortunate young girls who become mothers out of wedlock. The Army maintains fourteen homes for such girls in Canada. Last year it cared for 1567 mothers and 1042 babies, and experience has proved that these There are Fresh Air Camps for children of the needy, where the little ones may be invigorated with sunshine and good food.

There are old and infirm people whose pensions are all too slim to bring them many of the little necessities; outcast and suffering people bowed under burdens which no government agency reaches. It is the Salvation Army which steps into the breach to bring succor and restore hope.

This is the type of work in infinite variation, which the Salvation Army conducts on the Home Front. It saves souls and it saves bodies. Creed, color or race are no barriers in the good work of the Army. It is an all embracing charity always ready with the helping hand.

Everyone has a good word for the Army of Mercy in its zealous work. Everyone sympathizes with the purpose and is cheered by results. It is the privilege of the public to support this Home Front program by generous contribution.

Register Women Sept. 14 to Sept. 19

Compulsory registration of women will be conducted from Sept. 14 to Sept. 19th.

The first group to register will be the age classes born between January 1, 1918 and Dec. 31, 1922, i.e., between ages of 20 to 24 inclusive. Inmates of hospitals, mental hospitals and members of religious institutions need not register. One exception in respect to registration is made up of women employed and in possession of Unemployment Insurance Registration cards 411 and 418 who are still working for wages or salaries and paying unemployment insurance.

Any women, however, who did register for unemployment insurance last April and are not now working for wages must register again. Women who were registered last spring but have now left jobs in which they were paying unemployment insurance for those which are not insurable must register again.

Other groups who must register include housewives, domestic servants, farm workers, women employed in hospitals or charitable institutions where they are not already registered; professional private duty nurses or probationers; women employed as teachers (including dancing and music) who are not already registered; women employed as agents on commission; self-employed women operating their own business.

Registration will be conducted in Employment and Selective Service offices, or if these are not set up, and in rural areas, registration will be at the nearest post office.

After this age group has been registered, the women most likely prospects for work will be called for an interview with a personnel worker of Selective Service.

All women will not be placed immediately in some essential work, but the registration gives Canada a complete, up-to-date inventory of workers available.

The Flamingo is usually found in Southern Europe, Africa and some parts of Florida. It has long legs and neck, webbed feet and a broad bill. These birds usually travel in large flocks.

This work of MERCY must go on

Thousands Depend on the Army of Mercy in Time of Need

● A war for democracy places unusual burdens on all of us. But we cannot overlook the needy at home. That would be treason to democracy.

There are many with whom life has dealt harshly. Human weakness, failure of relatives, unfortunate circumstances—one or all of these may have put them in dire need.

Long experience in dealing with human weakness and want qualifies The Salvation Army to be YOUR agent in this work of brotherhood.

That is the reason for this Home Front Appeal. Money is needed. The work MUST go on. With YOUR help, it WILL!

Support the Army of Mercy!

Items From Bob Edwards' Inimitable Eye Opener

Circulating round High River in the good old days; a good word for R. A. Wallace; High River Anglican Church; the pesky automobile.

George Emerson was in town Thursday. Mr. Robertson, our station agent, is erecting a private stable on a lot adjoining Buck Smith's on the north-east.

Rheinhart can now supply the community with fresh bread at Calgary prices—one 2 pound loaf for 10 cts, 3 for 25 cts. This should be a boon not only to bachelor ranchers but also to the town housekeepers to whom baking during the warm summer is so irksome.

Charles Short has bought half a section 4 miles east of town from the C.P.R. Harry Robertson sold the property for the company.

W. R. Hull and Pat Burns paid a brief visit to High River Tuesday on their way to the stockmen's meeting at Macleod. We bow our humble cocoanut.

Bob Kellock is here. He will assume Sam Gregory's duties at the Astoria and add generally to the gaiety of nations and editors.

R. B. Speaks
R. B. Bennett, M.P., speaking in Montreal on the unrest of the west, said the ease with which it was possible to get rich was a great danger. He said there could be no enduring greatness in Canada so long as it was so easy to get rich.

Praise for R. A. Wallace
In a private letter to the Eye Opener from one of the strongest men in the legislative assembly, A. S. Rosenroll, member for Wetsaskiwin district, whose word carries great weight both in Regina and in his own area, he has this to say of our representative, Mr. Wallace. "I see you are putting in a few words for Wallace. I am glad of that. He is a man of common sense and looks well after his constituency, and I hope to see him back in Regina again." Of course you will, Mr. Rosenroll.

High River Anglican Church
Services were held here Sunday at 3 p.m. in the village hall. On the Monday following, the first parish meeting was held in the sitting room of Mrs. Robertsons boarding house. Amongst those present, were Messrs. W. Holmes, H. Robertson, G. A. Mines, A. E. Almas, J. Iken, Captain Oakes, R. Cowell, H. Hamilton. Captain Oakes was appointed secretary.

The wardens named were W. E. Holmes and H. Robertson. W. H. Bond was elected delegate to the Synod. A communication was read from the Methodist congregation offering the use of their building to the English church. The matter was considered and the offer was accepted with thanks. This shows Christian kindness.

The question of a new church was then brought up and prospects are gratifying. A friend in eastern Canada has promised $100 as soon as $200 is raised here. Mr. Iken has come to the rescue with a building site and received a vote of appreciation.

A committee was appointed to report on the financial feature (it will keep them reporting) at a meeting on May 5th.

Next meeting will be held May 4 in the Methodist church.

The pastor, Rev. Mr. Lang-Ford is a liberal-minded man who puts on no dog. He is by nature a good man, and sets a good example of the way we ought to wiggle along. He is considered a strong preacher. We have not yet had opportunity to attend the Episcopal service.

The Pesky Automobile
Here is a man we can sympathize with.

Some time ago Mike Jefferson bought a new automobile. He couldn't run it very well, but of course the whole family and near relatives wanted to see how it would work, as soon as possible. So Mike loaded the machine to capacity and started out on a country road. Everybody was delighted and Mike ran the car without getting into trouble.

But after a while everyone decided it was getting late and about time to turn about for the home stretch. This was an unfortunate decision for Mr. Jefferson, for he found to his horror that he did not know how to turn his car round on a country road.

"Sorry but I'll have to keep going until we come to a town" said Mike. And they had to travel 15 miles more.

Guarantee on Hosiery
Jones sent $2.00 to a concern that advertised to send 5 pairs of hose by mail for that sum. When they arrived he looked them over and then wrote the senders: "Hose arrived. The patterns are vile. I wouldn't be seen on the street with them on."

Back came the answer "What are you kicking about? Didn't we advertise that you wouldn't wear them out?"

Good Advertising
When Lot was fleeing and saw his wife turned into a pillar of salt, he was in a great quandary. Looking around, his eye fell upon a signboard nearby "Lots For Sale."

Seeing this he fetched it over to where his saline spouse was standing, and with a little work, he made it read "Lot's Wife For Sale."

Then he sat down and waited for customers. None showed up, he decided to put an ad. in the Eye Opener. The result was very satisfactory, with no fewer than 764 inquiries.

Higher Education
At the Winnipeg C.P.R. was a pathetic leave-taking. A Jew was about to take a trip to Scotland and all his relatives were down to see him off. There was great weeping and taking on. An old rabbi took him aside and said "Ikey, why go to Scotland at all? You can't make money there."

"I do not expect to make money there," replied Ikey. "I'm going to Scotland to complete my education."

Considerate Speakers
With all their short-comings and crazy ambitions the Okotoks politicians treated their High River audience with every consideration Tuesday night. For instance, the speakers, as soon as they were talked out left the platform on tip-toe for fear of waking the audience.

A Wise Politician
Do you know the best way, if you are a politician, to hoo-doo your constituents? Make them think you are overwhelmed with work, cares and anxieties on their behalf. Always be rushing to catch a train for Regina or Ottawa. A little black satchel is part of this bluff. It is supposed to contain state documents of great importance, but it is, of course, only full of a few shirts, brush and comb and a bottle. Or you may inspire confidence by saying: "Just back from Ottawa, old man. Laurier has promised to make everything all right."

"What all right?"
"Oh that's all right. A little soon in mine, Fred. How's the weather been since I was away. Bad, eh? Well, well, we must do something about that. See you later, I'm very rushed just now."

Mental Suggestion
We believe there is a good deal in the law of mental medicine, though perhaps it may not be so good with microbes. In ordinary sickness the manner of the doctor cuts a very wide swath with the patient. How wistfully does the person in bed, regard the doctor sizing up his case. Let the doctor look grave and wag his head, and begin writing things on slips of paper, and it is all up! If you don't get worse you certainly won't get better.

But if he comes in to the room like our doctor here, with a breezy smile, and tells you you'll be all right in the morning; if he tells you there's nothing the matter with you; that there's a horse race coming up and you can easily go if you take one of these little pills every hour—then you are pretty sure to be up and doing next day.

It is far more important to have confidence in your physician than that he should know anything about your case. A bread pill and a trustful imagination work wonders.

When a sick man begins to dissect himself he is soon qualified for the bone yard. The carpenters can start on his coffin. Were we called upon to name a prolific source of suggestion we might mention newspaper literature relating to disease. The law of suggestion is the most important factor in man's mental make-up.
